

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a device that can be used to exercise hands by gently manipulating the device within the hand providing a therapeutic massage. The invention may have various embodiments that can be to inflate the device, or the form and shape of the device.

2024-03-14 10:00